Long-Lasting Quality

If South American alstromeria doesn't meet your standards, give Mellano & Company a call. Our alstromeria is grown in the open air on our California fields, not under cover in a green house like at other growers. The result of this full sun exposure: deeper and more vibrant colors, stronger stems and hardier foliage. Plus, each stem is specially treated post-harvest to ensure greener leaves for an even longer period of time.

Count on Mellano & Company for beautiful and long-lasting alstromeria in a full range of colors. Whites, yellows, purples, pinks, oranges and bi-colors – all are available year round.
